Giving 2008

Vancouver Foundation's annual list of contributors and endowment funds

Giving 2008

One simple act of giving is where community begins.

Some people give their time, sharing themselves and their knowledge with the community. Others give their money, which makes so many things possible. All give their inspiration, wanting to find ways to make life better for everyone.

The amazing thing about gifts like these is they become more than what they were. Projects expand, lives are touched and changed, new paths are found. There is an evolution that goes far beyond the intrinsic value of the original gift; an evolution created purely by the act of giving.

Vancouver Foundation shares its mission and work with so many dedicated, generous people who have chosen to give what they can to help their communities grow and prosper.

In 2008, the Foundation had the pleasure of working with over 2,000 individuals and organizations listed in this booklet. Some decided to set up endowment funds to create a legacy for the future. Some donated money to endowment funds held by individuals or organizations. And some gave money to the Foundation, simply to show they cared.

All these gifts will continue to grow, through the work that so many people do for their community, through our shared vision for a better future, because one gift keeps on giving.

Endowment Funds

Many people choose to create a philanthropic legacy by establishing an endowment fund. Vancouver Foundation offers donors, whether they are individuals, corporations or organizations, various types of funds depending on how much flexibility they wish to have. The Foundation pools the money, invests it wisely, and uses a portion of the income generated to support hundreds of charities throughout B.C.

Community Impact Funds

This type of fund allows donors to direct their gifts to the most pressing needs of the community and support innovative projects. Vancouver Foundation works closely with volunteer community advisors, who are experts in their field and aware of emerging trends and needs. By establishing a Community Impact Fund, donors are assured their gift will be used effectively to make a difference in the community, where it matters most.

Field of Interest Funds

Field of Interest Funds allow donors to support aspects of the community they are most interested in. They choose to focus on one or more of the Foundation's nine fields of interest such as Arts and Culture, the Environment, Youth Homelessness and more. Like the Community Impact Funds, expert advisory committee members use their knowledge and expertise to support the most worthy, effective projects within the chosen Field of Interest.
