

Community Recovery

We provided these funds through grants to 1,700

charities across BC.

In 2021, we granted

$78
Million

British Columbians donated

$49.4
Million

to communities across the province.

Systems Change

$23
Million

A pivotal innovation that focuses on projects driving system-level change, including grants to Indigenous and BIPOC-led organizations.

BC flood recovery

$2.1
Million

Our Community Impact Fund is designed to swiftly respond to urgent social, cultural, and environmental challenges.

In 2021, we continued to support marginalized communities across our province, while bolstering our capacity to swiftly offer essential support during emergencies.

Your contributions to our community foundation are instrumental in advancing these vital efforts.

At Vancouver Foundation, we take great care in managing funds on behalf of our donors and charities.

A fund not only grows prudently over time, but it also serves as a reliable source of support for the community. This stability proves invaluable, particularly in years when donations may decrease, government funding is constrained, or unforeseen crises occur.

This year, we were able to swiftly direct donations from caring British Columbians to where they were needed most in our communities. This included crucial efforts in flood relief, new innovations for Indigenous communities, and advancing racial justice.

Our role to support both unexpected emergencies and newly identified needs serves as a testament to the transformative power of our cherished donors, dedicated charities, and passionate volunteers who ensure we'll always be here.